CORN RECEIPTS DISAPPOINTING Notwithstanding a Lessening in the General Cash Inquiry Oats Prices Continue to Hold Stendy.

OMAHA. Nov. 25, 1912.

With the big supplies of breadstuffs on one hand as a bearish influence, and the unsittled political situation in the far east as a bullish influence on the other hand, the wheat market is likely to be kept in a sort of a turmoil until the Balkan situation is forced into a more settled state. There are many possibilities surrounding the war situation in the far east and any uprising will mean the possible cutting off of shipments from Russia and the Danube, which would cause many of those who are now depending partially or wholly upon those countries for breadstuff supplies, to turn their faces toward the west for flour. With the Argentine prospects ideal for this season, and with the cutting of that crop near at hand, there is but one outlet for the bulls at the present, and that outlook is the possible uprising and continued unsettled conditions in the Baikans. It is hardly at the present, and that outlook is the possible uprising and continued unsettled conditions in the Baikans. It is hardly probable, however, that those who are depending upon the Dardanelles as a means of bringing breadstuffs to the importing nations, will allow those waters to be closed to grain and flour boats. Cash wheat tike lower to like higher.

The receipts of corn on the present crop have been disappointing to everybody in the trade. According to the larger cash handlers of grain in the Chicago market, the smaller receipts have been caused by the refusal of cash corners to take hold in their usual liberal manner. Advices received at Chicago during several days of last week say that in sections of Kaness, lowa and Nebraska corn is not turning out as well as was in sections of Kansas, lowa and Nebraska corn is not turning out as well as was generally expected and that the general quality is not as good as was looked for a few weeks ago. Cash corn 2c lower.

Notwithstanding a lessening in the general cash inquiry, oats prices held very steady, being influenced chiefly by the action in other grains. Cash oats were $\frac{1}{4}\overline{2}^{2}\text{doc}$ higher.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Features of the Trading and Closing Prices on Board of Trade.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.-Excited returns in CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—Excited returns in wheat quotations in account of unconfirmed rumors brought about heavy sales presumed to be for leading holders. The market closed nervous at an advance of $40% to $50% net. In corn, the outcome varied from he lower to a shade up, outs finished a sixteenth off to a gain of he, and provisions irregular, strung out from a signi decline to a rise of 1956.

Though principal owners of wheat here were active in selling on bulges, speculative longs increased in number and courage. Ordinary influences were for the most part ignored and the market swayed upward or back according as the latest talk was in regard to the probable closing of the Dardanelles or concerning an alloged armistice that would stop hostilities a week.

Top figures of the day in wheat came shortly before the close and resulted from unconfirmed reports of an outpost clash said to have taken place on the Austria-Servia frontier. Prices at no time during the session tell below Saturday night's level. Absence of foreign demand of shipments from the United States proved the chief handicap of the bulls.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25 -A 12 per cent rate for call money the highest since January 3, 1910, caused some unsettlement in stocks today. The advance was ascribed to a variety of causes, including the world-wide tightening of monetary conditions, the Balkan war and the strain upon domestic reserves. HOGS-The receipts of hogs this morn HOGS—The receipts of hogs this morning were liberal again, when considering the supply here on the same day a year ago, but a little short of last Monday. The market was a trifle slow on opening, there being, as during the latter part of last week, some uncertainty as to the local trade. The packer buyers were slow in starting out and their first bids were fully solide below the general run of sales at the close of last week. In the end the bulk of the offerings was sold on packing account at prices showing largely a dime decline. There were a few sales made to speculators at the opening at mostly steady to strong prices, but the number of hogs bought a that time cut litle figure in the general market. The universent at no time was any better than lairly active. In fact, trade became slow and prices weakened as the morning advanced. Several loads of hogs sold at high as $7.75, top for the day, while the big bulk of them had to sell around $7.560 top for the majority of offerings on Saturday. The receipts footed up according to first estimates about 266 head less than a week ago, but around $7.600 the general quality was considered as only fair and a fair clearance was effected in gued season.

SHEEP—The week opens out with only a very moderate supply of sheep and lambs as compared with last Monday and two weeks ago. When compared with the same day a year ago today's receipts are fully twice as large. As on most days last week, not many really good killers were available, and the limited supply of anything suitable for the packers was disposed of at around steady prices. In spite of the fact that early advices from Chicago and most of the other competitive points indicated weakness and a lower trend to value, in the general trade, local buyers seemed to have a place for the bulk of the fat stock offered, and in consequence the movement was active at prices very little if any different from the close of last week. Incidentally it might be mentioned that prices here are now about on a par with the Chicago market. A load of very choice fed wester on wabout on a par with the Chicago market. 'Young men are running the world today. In the past they have had much to do with running it. Alexander con- L quered the world before he was 30; Na- 11 poleon had all Europe at his feet while. he was stil a young man; Goethe said the destiny of any nation is in the hands of young men under 25 years of age." So said Rev. W. Jasper Howell, pastor of the First Baptist church, in a sermon on "The Young Man Four Square" last night. In the interest of proportion, an introductory word was spoken in appreciation of notable activities of old men. Il Preachers famous in England and America were cited whose pulpit efficiency had not abated though they were nearing three-score and ten.

Mott, Speer and Henry Drummond in were mentioned as ideal young men in this generation. "The young man is strong in bodily vigor, mental power, will power and ambition," said the minister. "His heart is brave, hopeful and happy and the trials of life do not easily dishearten him as an older man. The future with opportunity and possibility lies in front

Taft Pays Tribute to Vice President

NEW YORK, Nov. 25 .- Eloquent tributes to James Schoolcraft Sherman were paid by President Taft in a letter and by United States Senator Elihu Root, former Senator Chauncey M. Depew and others in speeches at memorial exercises held at the Republican club yesterday in honor of the late vice president. In his letter, read by J. Van Vechten Olcott. President Taft said in part:

"Mr. Sherman hated shams, believed in regular party organization and was most anxious to hold the good things. established by the past than to surrender them in a search for less certain benefits to be derived from radical changes in the future. He was a man capable of accomplishing much in legislation and in other matters by his freedom and charm of speech and manner and his spirit of conciliation and compromise.

"It would be difficult to mention in public life a man more universally loved and who had closer and tendered friends than Mr. Sherman, and, as might be expected, his association with society at large was a reflection of that beautiful sunlight and happy atmosphere that prevailed in the more intimate relations of 2.900 his family life."
